

Preface

This book introduces a collection of selected papers from the 2025 OkIP Academia & Industry Convention conferences held Online and in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, USA, on April 02 and October 01, 2025. One of the missions of the Academia & Industry Convention series is to promote quality research and development in a diverse and inclusive environment.

Authors and participants from around the world with diverse origins, experiences, and backgrounds participated in these events. The International Technical Program Committees thank those who submitted papers for consideration. Two to three experts in the field peer-reviewed each submitted paper for originality, relevance, contribution, structure, clarity, appropriateness, discussion, and conclusion.

The overall manuscript acceptance rate for full papers was 30%; 45% of the remaining proposals were accepted as short, poster, or abstract papers.

We are grateful to our many colleagues who offered their services to make the event successful and helped prepare this document. We want to thank the Distinguished Keynote Speakers from academia and the industry whose reputation and name recognition were big selling points in pre-event marketing, particularly Prof. Maiga Chang of Athabasca University, Canada.

We would also like to thank the General and Technical Program Committee members who helped organize this event; their names appear on the subsequent pages. We express our gratitude to all the authors of this book and the speakers who shared their research results.

We are also grateful to all the staff of Oklahoma International Publishing for the excellent professional service they provided for this book project and the overall event organization.

This document, which is in progress, consists of several parts, each providing intelligent and sustainable solutions.
